

Your Roadmap to Strategic HR

The ihouse Value Proposition:

After operating for years with multiple disparate systems, many companies develop manual workarounds to cobble their human resources (HR) management technologies together—and they end up working out of sync: Does Payroll know what HR is doing? Does HR know what's happening in Benefits Administration?

It can be overwhelming to manage and coordinate these disorganized systems even to complete day-to-day tasks—and strategic HR is simply out of the question.

That's where ihouse comes in: we help you determine where you are, where you want to be and what technology you need to get there. And we guide you every step of the way.

HRIS Analysis

ihouse will meet with your stakeholders to learn how your current HR systems and processes operate. We then diagram your current situation and recommend an optimal future state based on your goals.

System Selection

Once we determine a future state direction, ihouse will manage the system selection process to include RFP development and distribution, vendor correspondence and demonstration management, reference checking and contract consultation.

Project Management

Our analysis work will allow you to begin a successful implementation because your requirements and roadmap are clearly defined. Our project manager will keep you on schedule by holding the vendor accountable and ensuring that they clearly understand your expectations. We will give you full visibility into our work through status reports and deliverables tracking.

The Result

A fully-implemented HRIS that fits your organization's unique needs and helps you reach your unique goals—and an environment where all team members are trained to maximize the system and all stakeholders benefit from its output.

Why ihouse?

HRIS analysis, professional system selection and a successful implementation are the keys to elevating the value of HR services in your organization. ihouse takes your HRIS project from start to finish: our focus is on helping you achieve your goals. We absorb the workload, and we equip your team with the knowledge and tools they'll need to take the ball and run with it.
